

The figure consists of three panels. The main panel is an aerial map of a river valley. A red dot is placed on the riverbank, indicating a specific location. Two black lines extend from this dot to two inset photographs. The top-left inset shows a river with a concrete weir and a road. The bottom-right inset shows a river with a rocky bank and mountains in the background.

